The following 10 members participated in yesterday's meeting:

Audrey Derii started the meeting with the Show'n Tell portion. Always lots of fun!

Sandra had information about Lois Nixon who had been in the hospital and was transferred to a private room in Long Term Care. She (Sandra) regularly speaks to Lois and relayed how much Lois was missing us. Apparently she is doing O.K. and is aiming to get back to her card specialty - the Stitched Cards – which are exquisite. We might want to send her a card. It would brighten her days. Here is her address:
Lois Nixon, 72 Town Centre Drive, Gardenview Room 223,
TOWNSEND, ON N0A 1S0

It was decided to do the Christmas Cards for Nursing Homes again. Kris Kerfont says: I think we should go ahead again this year. It's such a nice gesture.

I received an email from Jane Campbell, addressing the same subjects:

Good morning Lilo. It was a great meeting yesterday. I really do enjoy them. So glad they are going to keep them going for a while. It's so nice they are keeping up the Christmas cards for the nursing homes. Was pleased to hear that. Also I would like you to thank the ladies for me in your newsletter please. Lois Nixon address is room 223 garden view If you could tell the ladies. She is coming along but it's going to be a struggle for her. Love the cards and do them every month. Hope all is well with you . So nice to see everyone. Take care. Jane Campbell.

Future meetings:

In August, Lilo will put together a project and forward it to Aline Chan for demonstration. It will involve creating a background using stamps and gold leafing.

Aline has kindly agreed to keep doing these demos even though she had to change her teaching Saturday from the 2nd to the 3rd Saturday each month. Thank You very much, Aline.

Dede showed us this interesting Fathers Day card in bookbinding style.

1st. Demo:

Etta created a gorgeous card using dies and acetate sheets. The making of this card can be viewed using the You Tube link that Aline provided --- see above.

2nd Demo:

Suggested by Dede Reiach it involved the creation of 6 cards using one 6 x 6 piece of designer paper and a 7 x 7 1/4 sheet of cardstock for the mats.

Someone touched on the subject of meeting in person again at the hall. It was decided to proceed with caution. We will continue with our Zoom meetings for a little while longer.

Many Thanks to Dede and Etta for their efforts in putting it all together. The meeting was very informative and inspirational.
Thank You to Aline Chan for demonstrating .

And please keep in mind to start making Christmas Cards for Nursing Homes. It is such a worthwhile cause.
